DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

President Hayes, Gen. Sherman and Secretary Ramsey Honor Las Vegas with a Brief Call.

A Cordial Welcome by the People, and Happy Speeches by the Visitors.

Yesterday morning a brief dispatch came over the wire from Galisteo Junction from Gen. Sherman to the Mayor and Committee at Las Vegas, informing them that President Hayes and party would arrive here by special train at 11:40 a. m. In a few minutes after, the GAZETTE, with its usual enterprise had printed and distributed throughout both towns, hand-bills announcing the time of the arrival of the distinguished party. As the hour approached large crowds of people collected at the depot in carriages, on horses and on foot. The Las Vegas band was out in uniform and the San Miguel Rifles, fully equipped. At a few minutes past twelve, the special came puffing up to the depot amid music by the band and deafening cheers by the people. The committee on reception, consisting of Messrs. Col. Pritchard, T. F. Chapman, Col. Lockhart, Chas. Blanchard, Prof. Robertson, Henry Jaffa, R. A. Kistler, J. H. Kogler and others waited upon the President in his car and were formerly introduced. President Hayes was then conducted to the platform and was received with hearty cheers by the large crowd in attendance. He was introduced in a neat and appropriate speech by Col. Pritchard. Rutherford B. Hayes is a regular old fashioned bluff, blue-eyed Anglo-Saxon, and has the milk of human kindness in his make-up and physiognomy. His kindly disposition looks out of his countenance and no mistake. He is a pleasant speaker and wins easily the sympathy of his hearers. He is just the kind of man to be elected President of a country wherein the grangers predominate. He said: "Ladies and gentlemen of Las Vegas, I hardly expected to see so many people as I now see before me in Las Vegas; I congratulate you upon your evident signs of prosperity, and your bright prospects. We have traveled long enough and far enough to see a wide scope of the extreme western portion of the United States, and I have not seen in all this journey any more attractive part than that in which Las Vegas is situated. The beauty of your scenery and the healthfulness of your climate is unsurpassed. From the great natural advantages of this country the beautiful climate, and your mineral springs, I believe that a large population will drift this way. You, at present, do not realize the vast population that will throng in upon you in the next few years. People here do not appreciate health. It is natural to them. You all look healthy; you consider it as a matter of course. But back in New England where they have a harsh and rigorous winter, health is rare and there are large numbers of invalids who long for the blessings of the health you enjoy. I have seen them come to this country weak and sickly, and in a few years look as strong and healthy as anybody. With this great advantage in addition to the great resources, there will be a vast and prosperous growth in this Territory in the next few years. We have traveled on this trip within thirty miles of the British possessions on the north, down the Pacific coast on the west and within fifty miles of Mexico on the south. Yet during all this trip we have been under the United States flag and we have heard if said that wherever that flag floats, there is the center of the United States. I will now introduce to you ladies and gentlemen, Gov. Ramsey, who will speak to you." The latter gentleman failing to appear promptly loud calls were made for General Sherman. The latter responded very promptly by presenting his lengthy and raw-boned figure upon the platform, a grim old war-horse who has heard the roar of many battles and whose milk of kindness has been dried up and caked by the sight of thousands dead and the groans of thousands dying. He has a massive head and a strong countenance. It has a character like a sour apple. It says harmless things in a rasping way, but when he gets down to business he talks wisdom like a Solomon. He has a German name, but a large infusion of the blood of the ancient Britons, derived either from the Welsh, Irish, Pies or Scots. We would pronounce him a Pie however. He has plenty of grim humor and remembers distinctly Las Vegas as she appeared when he was here in 1865 looking after the Navajo Indians on their reservation at Ft. Sumner. He said that some of the committee had told him that there were soldiers here. I see a few, the Rifles and others in the crowd who were in the volunteer service and belonged to the regular army. To these I speak with the familiarity that I always do. He pointed toward the old town and said he remembered it and spoke of the old mill which looked as though Moses had built it. He remarked the wonderful improvement in Las Vegas and expressed his astonishment that a railroad should so soon be constructed through the length and breadth of the Territory. He spoke of the timber extending south of Las Vegas and said it was the largest body of timber on the eastern slope from Ft. Sumner to Pike's Peak. He spoke of the barren appearance of the land but which under irrigation was abundantly fruitful. In the midst of his speech the train started off and the multitude cheered. The party were evidently pleased with their hearty reception by the people of Las Vegas.

—Mrs. James Garrard arrived yesterday from the states. She reports times prosperous there. She was here on a visit about a year ago and made many warm friends who will be glad to see her again.

—The Chicago Times says that the Democratic arithmeticians are figuring about this way:

—A precinct meeting was held at the court house last Thursday evening for the purpose of nominating precinct officials. Mr. C. E. Wesche was made chairman of the meeting. Judge A. Morrison was again renominated for justice of the peace and Nicolas Delgado constable.

—Invitations are out for the marriage of Mr. Francisco Dalgado of Santa Fe and Miss Ellen Seay of this city. The ceremony will take place at the Catholic church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, and the reception be held immediately afterward at the residence of the brides parents.

—Mr. Lehman who has just returned from a trip to the Lincoln county mines intends going east for the purpose of purchasing machinery with which to sink wells for water in the Jicarillas. He proposes to go to a great depth and will bring out the same kind of machinery used for sinking oil wells.

—The wire came up yesterday for about two minutes. At the expiration of that time some fellow at Wagon Mound was moving a house, he moved it through the wire and broke her up again. We only hope the company may get it up again by next Tuesday night. That gives them four days and considering the importance of the occasion, we trust they will make an effort.

—General Garfield, like several other mild-mannered Ohio men who have been in active political life, has pronounced literary notions. He is one of the limited number of public men in Washington who are very hard readers. The present amiable administration has shown an inclination toward favoring literary men, and several journals have come to believe that if Gen. Garfield should be elected he will probably surpass his predecessor in that direction.

—Everybody around here is now busy shipping wool to Las Vegas. Mr. Emilio Gallegos and his boy started their wagons from San Hilario Saturday and went to overtake them on Sunday. Mr. J. M. Gallegos of the same town, also left with his wagon full of wool, and Mr. Julien Trujillo, of this town, has just arrived from his ranch too, with a clip of wool. Several trains crossed the river here yesterday and Monday, all full of wool, going to Vegas.—Red River Chronicle.

—The Franklin Mining Company yesterday sold to W. G. Franklin, four mines in the Socorro mountains, and two in the Magdalena at figures that pays the company about five hundred per cent profit on the money invested. The F. M. Co. is composed entirely of Las Vegas business men. This is the first sale they have made of any of their property. Judging from their success so far, we predict for them a brilliant future. Mr. Franklin bought the four in the Socorro's to complete a group of eight. From present indications two of this group, the Hattie and the Sadie when developed, will prove the most valuable mines in that district. We understand that eastern parties are negotiating for the purchase of the entire group.

—G. W. Quib; Wm. Shefer, Sweet Water; J. Freeman and family, Ohio; Geo. Baeger, Silver City; J. A. Burnett, Trinidad; Edward W. Young, Conn; S. A. Clements and A. C. Fleitz Half-way Mill, are registered at the National hotel.

The Early Rising Delusion.

For farmers and those who live in localities where people can retire at eight or nine o'clock in the evening, the old notion about early rising is still appropriate. But he who is kept up until ten or eleven or twelve o'clock and then rises at five or six, because of the teachings of some old ditty about "early to rise," is committing a sin against his own soul. There is not one man in ten thousand who can afford to do without seven or eight hours sleep. All the stuff written about great men who sleep only three or four hours a night, apocryphal. They have been put upon such small allowances occasionally and prospered; but no man ever yet kept healthy in body and mind for a number of years with less than seven hours' sleep. If you can get to bed early then rise early; if you cannot get to bed till late, then rise late. It may be as proper for one man to rise at eight as it is for another to rise at five. Let the rousing bell be rung by at least thirty minutes before your public appearance. Physicians say that a sudden jump out of bed gives irregular motion to the pulses. It takes hours to get over a too sudden rising.

The Metropole Fire Insurance Company, of Paris, France, has just forwarded funds for the purchase of $100,000 more United States Government bonds, which, in addition to the already large American investments of this staunch and enterprising company, have been placed with its trustees in Boston—Messrs. H. H. Munroe, George M. Barnard, and William P. Hunt—for the further security of its policy-holders in the United States, and most conclusively indicate its permanency and determination to strengthen the already high position it has obtained under the thorough and judicious management of its United States Resident Manager, Mr. John C. Paige, of Boston, aided by Mr. Harvey W. Snow, of San Francisco, General Agent for the Pacific Coast, and Mr. J. Harris, General Agent for the Western States.

The United States Branch of the Metropole was established in Boston in November last, when it made a deposit of $200,000 in United States bonds with the State Treasurer of Massachusetts, and has since allowed all the surplus from its large premium receipts in this country to accumulate in the hands of its American trustees, so that it now has enough clean funds in this country to constitute a solid company of itself, even independent of its large European resources.

This large addition to its U. S. assets is all the more important, coming as it does when so many companies are retiring. Messrs. Davis & Requa, the well-known fire underwriters, represent the Metropole in this city.

There appears to be no great change in the epizootic which is now prevailing. Grave fears are entertained, however, that the change in the weather will have a serious effect upon the horses. In some of the stables the horses have not yet been afflicted with the disease at all. The greatest care is being taken of them, and some of the stables refused to send horses out to-day in the rain. On the North Side there are a great many coughing but not many of them have yet been confined. Those that have are reported as improving rapidly, and some of the cars which had been taken off were put on again to-day. On the West Side there are a great many confined, and the cars that are on have to make more frequent trips in consequence. A great many of the car horses are coughing to-night, and it is attributed to the damp weather. The general impression is that the disease will not take a very serious turn, but with proper treatment it can be checked before it makes much headway.—Inter Ocean.

The Coyote mountains, distant 11 miles from White Oaks, are vast deposits of mineral that contain gold, silver, copper and lead. One of the principal properties located there is the Leadville mine. The average assay is fifteen ounces silver and 40 per cent. lead, while the ore contains sufficient iron and limestone to flux itself. The Dubois is a good claim located on the southwest slope of the Lone mountain, and consists of a fine 600 by 1,500 claim. The outcrop is of an average width of 40 feet, running the entire length of the claim, and has a proven depth of 40 feet. The mass is of a depository nature carrying gold, silver, copper, lead and iron. This claim is an extension of the famous Captain Kidd.
